FRANKENMUTH HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY--Helena Kaczynski, John Veenstra, Marvin Hauck, Warren Naber, Warren Wilson, Marco Marcet, Sharon Fleschner, Judith Maier, Harold Kaczynski, Norman Richter, Nancy La Beau, Mary Lou

As bridges open up new vistas, new places to go, new visions of growth so the faculty opens the way for each Frankenhmuth High School pupil. They form the bridge of educational growth for all students, and how great the progress will depend upon the individual scope of each student.

Interestingly enough, the high school faculty members have myriad backgrounds, represent different outlooks, and have various ideas to offer. Thus they form the bridge of better understanding.

The yearbook staff proudly dedicates the 1965 Eyrie to the faculty of Frankemuth High School with the hope that each student's bridge will be long and strong and well-anchored.

ATION . . .

BOARD OF EDUCATION MEMBERS: STANDING: Raymond Bauer, Martin J. Daenzer, Dr. Harold Braeutigam, Wyman Hegenauer. SEATED: John S. Metzger, treasurer; Walter Frahm, president; Ernst F. Rittmueller, secretary.

Administration . . . foundation of the bridge

Every bridge requires a solid foundation on which to stand. The Board of Education along with the superintendent and the principal provides this foundation for each student through careful selection of faculty members and thoughtful planning of school policy.

Principal Robert Wallen and Superintendent Richard Ziehner

Administrative Assistants

Mrs. Catherine Lee and her assistant Sue Schwab stop busy schedules as secretaries in Mr. Ziehmer's office to pose for their year-book picture. Mrs. Lee is Mr. Ziehmer's full-time secretary. During the afternoon Sue works in the office as a part of the school's co-op training program.

Checking over the books in the high school office is Mrs. Charlotte Worley, Mr. Wallen's secretary. Much of the efficiency of the high school depends on this hardworking lady.

Assisting Mrs. Worley in the office everyday are--l. to r.: Marie Roedel, Mary Walz, Marilyn Reese, Rosie Schmandt, Dianna Parlberg, and Connie Day. These girls run errands, deliver absentee sheets, type, and do other tasks which save Mrs. Worley a number of steps.

Guidance and Counseling

One of the most important departments at Frankenth High is the guidance and counseling facilities. Headed by Homer Stinchcombe, the counselors add to the bridge of education by providing a blueprint for each student to follow.

"I'm sorry but there are no more openings in Home Economics II," explains Mr. Stinchcombe.

Mrs. "K" talks over future plans with one of the senior girls.

The guidance girls--STANDING: Janet Kishnik, Wilma Schellhas, Jeanette Schreiner, Bev Beyerlein, Jane Witt, and Bonnie Leidel. The bosses--SEATED: Mrs. Helena Kaczynski and Homer Stinchcombe.

TRANSPORTATION

HOT LUNCH PROGRAM

HIGH SCHOOL JANITORS

Keeping the school spic and span are Melvin Trinklein, Alois Schmitzer, director, Gretchen Schmitzer, and Kurt Schmitzer.

CLASSROOM

Participation in classroom activities helps build the bridge of understanding that the students may lead fuller and better lives in the future. The four years in high school are a preparation for the years that lie ahead. Shown here is Warren Wilson's geometry class. All of the students are paying close attention.

ACTIVITIES . . .

Language Arts Develop

Language Arts, taught by Mrs. Margret Willis, Mrs. Helena Kaczynski, James Weber, Marvin Hauck, Norman Richter, and James Drummond, consist of German I and II, first and second year speech, and four years of English. English is required all four years, while both German and speech are electives.

This unit deals with many phases of literature, grammar, and public speaking. Next year, for the first time, the junior and senior students will be given a choice in selecting their English classes.

Proudly watching her senior English students is Mrs. Margaret Willis. English is held in the same classroom as art, as noted on the wall.

Norman Richter, English department, makes one of his typical faces while deeply concentrating on a book of poetry.

Read slowly, enunciate clearly. These are the rules of interpretive reading as shown by Marcy Vanek, who placed first in the local forensics contest and second in the district.

Personalities

Guten Morgen. Wie geht es Ihnen? The students of James Weber look as if they are working hard on German assignments.

On the other side of the picture John Simon and Steve List laugh over a joke in German class.

Mary Walz and Ron Loesel telecast a radio program. Interesting projects such as this one are carried out during the second year of speech.

The wide variety of electives in the field of Commercial Sciences taught by Marco Marcet, Louie Weiss, and Charles Bartel are general business, typing, business law, office practice, shorthand, and bookkeeping. These classes prepare students who plan to make their careers in business.

Commercial Sciences Are Broadening

Miss Joyce Piesko, student teacher, demonstrates equipment used in office practice to Pat Mitchell and Angie Schaad.

The business law class follows along in the book as Louie Weiss makes a point.

Social Sciences Focus on Man

Each student is required to take one year of each of the Social Sciences. William Webster teaches the seniors government and the juniors American history, while the sophomores keep up with current events in world affairs, taught by James Drummond. This is the first year world affairs has been offered at Frankenmuth High.

William Webster lectures to the American history class, and, of course, all the juniors are listening attentively.

Science and Mathematics

James Weber, Warren Wilson, John Veenstra, and Miss Nancy La Beau are the instructors of the following classes. Basic mathematics, advanced mathematics, algebra I and II, geometry, physical science, biology, chemistry, and physics have been offered up to the present time. Biology II as well as applied chemistry and physics will be new units added to next year's schedule. With the ever increasing number of students, only a year of basic mathematics or algebra I is required.

Fred Zehnder, Al Roedel, and Al Martens are apparently discussing advanced mathematics. By the smiles on their faces it is evident they are having an enjoyable conversation.

Use Individual Ingenuity —

John Simon thoughtfully scratches his head as Warren Wilson explains an algebra equation to him.

Correcting algebra 1 and advanced mathematics papers was one of the jobs of student teacher Rita Forsythe.

Tom Daenzer, Brian Bickel, John Rivett, and Roger Hunter experiment with sound waves in physics.

This is Miss Sharon Fleschner's first year of teaching girl's physical education at Frankenmuth High. She has taught a variety of sports, such as field hockey, soccer, basketball, badminton, and tumbling.

Miss Fleschner demonstrates the straddle, which is only one of the many movements taught in the unit of free exercise.

Physical Education Builds Bodies

Lifting weights, as Gary Rushford is doing, really keeps muscles in shape. The girls try to do some of the stunts taught in free exercise.

Coach Harold Kaczynski tells one of his humorous stories to Diane Bender, Laverne Schiefer, and Ron Loesel, as Delbert Uebler works on an assignment.

Sewing on the machine is Andrea Girardot. This skill is very useful to girls, since many of them will make this a lifetime hobby.

Home Economics, taught by Mrs. Mary Lou Zehnder, can be taken by any girl in high school for three years. Sewing, cooking, child care, good grooming, home decorating, and family living in other countries are taught. This class prepares a girl for her future role as a homemaker.

Home Economics Points the Way

Cynthia Mitchell and Karen Koehler evaluate a lunch they have just prepared. At the left, Mrs. Zehnder presents Kathy Meyerhuber with the Betty Crocker Homemaking Award.

Fine Arts Are Creative

This department consists of art, under the direction of Mrs. Margret Willis, and band, conducted by James Van De Velde. Some of the annual events in this field are the art exhibit and the spring, fall, and Christmas band concerts.

Darlene Engel and Karin Schroeder arrange pictures for the art exhibit. This is a project in which the entire class takes part.

Making posters for the farm tours that will be held during Bavarian Week keeps Charlotte Heine and Joan Bauer busy. Tom Block, right, quietly sketches a small statue of a priest.

The fifty-seven members of the Frankenmuth High School band, directed by James Van De Velde, again finished with a second division rating. Both Ruth Bauer, the majorette, and the band have spent an active year.

Playing the clarinet are Pat Bluemlein and Randy Hart. Both seem to be engrossed in their work.

Dave Simon adds his talent by playing the flute. His is the first chair and his work is greatly depended upon.

Industrial Arts Are Vocational

After working for two years on the idea of using a ten year plan to gradually enlarge school facilities, the Board of Education members decided in the early winter of 1965 that the industrial arts department would be the first area to undergo expansion as this is in great demand and is steadily increasing. Such classes as a second year of auto mechanics, farm shop, drafting II and III, and electronics I may be offered next year.

Gary Gilbert and Emory Day seem to be working intently. Here they demonstrate the art of getting one's arm caught in a vise.

Eugene Haubenstricker and Gary Daenzer are hammering in shop, while John List works on his mechanical drawing.

The Frankenmuth High School library with modern, up-to-date facilities, has a great deal of fiction as well as informational data. The once 4,000 volumes have now increased to over 6,200, and more books are being added annually. New shelves have been put in, and much is being done to improve the library each year.

Surrounding Mrs. Judith Meier, the librarian, are Marsha Nuechterlein, Julie Uebler, Janet McElgunn, Pam Shippey, Darlene Korkus, Kathy Schlegel, and Virginia Roedel. These girls are all assistants of Mrs. Meier.

Reading one of many interesting articles in a magazine is Dick Warnick. The magazine stand and newspaper rack are always supplied with some of the best material available.

The Frankenmuth Eagle looks down on its Tiger opponent during halftime celebrations in the Homecoming game. This float, submitted by the Freshman class, won fourth place.

Freshmen Spend Active Year

The one hundred and nineteen-member Freshman class proved to be an active one---sponsoring a bake sale and a Valentine Dance.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

One hundred and one members made up this year's Sophomore class. They proved to be an extremely active class sponsoring a number of activities--including a bake sale and two dances.

Student council members were: Bill Bradford, Steve List, Kathy Abraham, Ruth Abraham, and Faye Bronner, treasurer.

For the second year in a row, the Krazy Kar-nival Queen has been chosen from the class of '67. This year's queen, Sally Kronkowski, is drawing lucky numbers, for the door prizes.

UPPERCLASS

MEN . . .

Junior Class

In September of 1984, the junior class elected Bob Zeilinger to head the many class activities of the year. Fred Eischer served as vice-president, Sue Funkbeiner, secretary, and Katy Deterding as treasurer. The members of the class worked hard to make their activities a great success. These included the Homecoming Dance, various bake sales, and the annual Krazy Karnival. Carrying out a theme of "Moonlight and Roses," the year was climaxed by the Junior-Senior Dinner Dance held May 22 at the Frankenmuth Bavarian Inn.

The juniors' hard work throughout the year gave them experience which will prove helpful in their coming year.

Senior Class

In September of 1961, the graduating class of 1965 entered Frankenmuth High School as freshmen. Throughout four years, various class activities were sponsored. These included bake sales, dances, a spaghetti dinner, and the Krazy Carnival. During the junior year of high school, the Junior-Senior Prom was held at the Frankenmuth Bavarian Inn, with the theme "Moon River".

During the seniors' final year at Frankenmuth High School, the class sponsored the Sadie Hawkins dance and a bake sale, and spent the remainder of the year working on graduation and baccalaureate plans. The title of this page is the class motto.

Baccalaureate

Sunday, June 6th, at 4:30 p.m. the 1965 Graduating Class held their Baccalaureate services at St. Lorenz Lutheran Church. Rev. John G. Deterding gave the reading and the address based on 1 Timothy 4:12: "Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversion, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity."

Graduates cross the street from the old Church Museum to enter St. Lorenz Church . . . and proudly march down the aisle as parents, and friends watch.

and Graduation

Frankenmuth High School graduates, their families and friends heard an experienced educational journalist at commencement exercises held Thursday, June 10, 1965. Stuart D. Gross, city editor of the Saginaw News, was introduced by Supt. Richard Ziehmer. The valedictory address was given by Dorothy Palmreuter and Al Martens delivered the salutatory address as dignitaries looked on. Robert D. Wallen, principal, presented the ninety graduates with their diplomas.

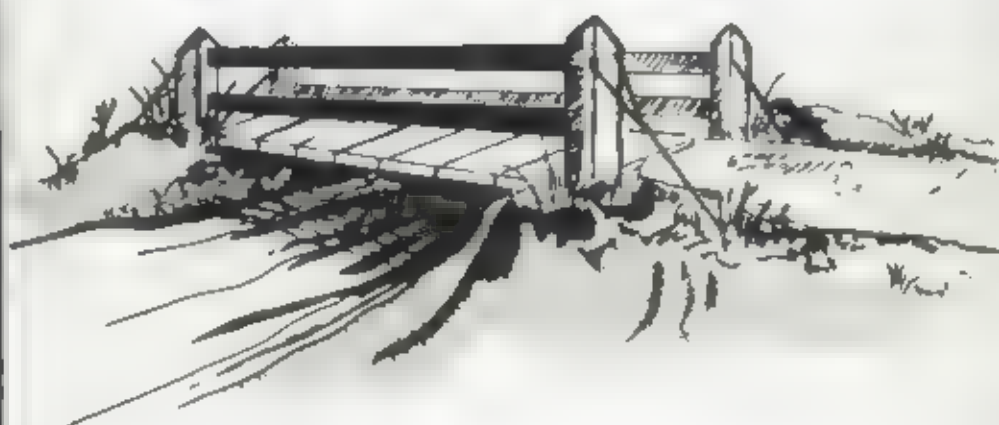

HIGH SCHOOL

Through athletics in Frankenmuth High School, students build strong bodies and alert minds, learn the importance of teamwork, and develop a feeling of sportsmanship.

The 1964-1965 school year was a good one for Frankenmuth athletes. The Eagles finished first in basketball, first in baseball, second in football, and fourth in track. These accomplishments placed Frankenmuth first in the conference, athletically. This is a feat of which all the students should be proud.

Homecoming 1965

Joan Miller receives from co-captains Fred Zehnder and Tom Johnston a football personally signed by each member of the football team.

Ping-Pong

Tomorrow's Stars

EXTRACURRICULAR

Bridging the gap between all school sports and no competitive team play, are the extracurricular activities. Students engaging in these events find them to be vigorous, clean, and refreshing.

Student Body elections each spring enable the students to cheer for their favorite candidate, as they are doing here.

ACTIVITIES . . .

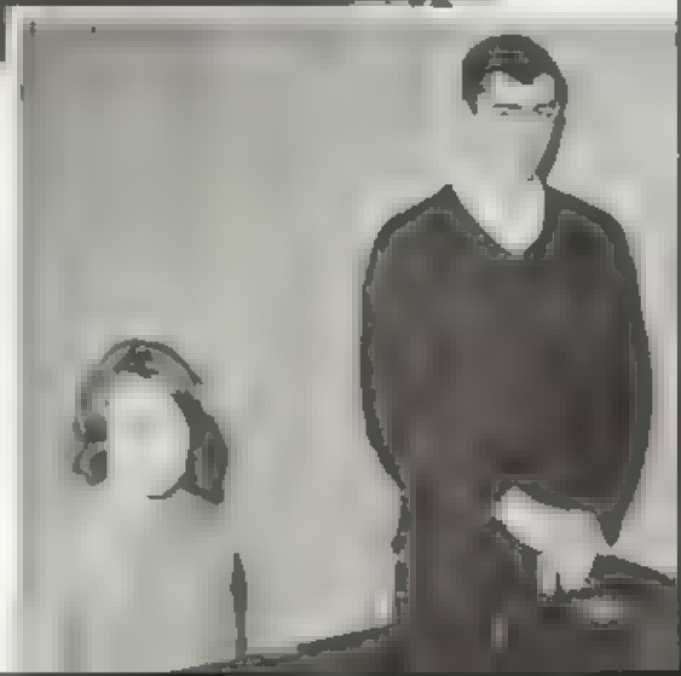

Student Council Governs Activities

Included in the recent accomplishments of the Student Council are the building of the trophy cases and the installation of a pop machine. TOP ROW, L. to R.: K. Koehler, R. Schatt, D. Simon, S. East, R. Bernthal, K. Abraham and D. Wearbach. SECOND ROW: K. Muehlstedt, J. Conzelmann, W. Bradford, J. Zettrider, A. Meeko, J. Bleke, R. Abraham and P. Bronner. SEATED: B. Beverman, A. Martens, Ted Galsterer, president, Ron Loesel, vice-president, and T. Abraham. Missing: K. Braeutigam.

Ted Galsterer served as this year's Student Body president, while Ron Loesel served as vice-president.

Tim Abraham, Reine Frank, and Dennis Fischer won second place in the talent show sponsored by the Student Council. Gary Rushford placed third with his accompanist, Katy Deterding.

Admiring the new trophy case is Ted Galsterer. The building of the above was sponsored by the Student Council, with the help of the four classes. Much of the cost was paid for by the money from the pop machine.

Stage Band Wins First

G.A.A. Keeps Girls Active

Intramural basketball, volleyball, and bowling are offered by the Girl's Athletic Association for high school girls. BACK ROW 1. to 11.: K. Schatt, D. Bender, K. Kaczynski, J. Kruckowski, S. Waack, L. Fischhaber, J. Wenzel, S. Schmitzer, and K. Krummhaier. SECOND ROW: J. List, R. Rodammer, C. Sparks, V. Brenner, J. Dutt, K. Heine, C. Schillinger, A. Bender, J. Bender, and M. Kernath. THIRD ROW: L. Parberg, B. Bernthal, G. Leprach, R. Abraham, B. Travis, M. Boesenecker, K. Haganauer, K. Abraham, E. Allardyce, and C. Goldammer. ROW FOUR: L. Sanborn, D. Suppes, R. Bauer, R. Parberg, N. Meyer, W. Waack, C. Geyer, and C. Heine. FIFTH ROW: C. Schaard, M. Heindl, C. Engelhardt, K. Bernthal, N. Voorheis, J. Geyer, M. Zehnder, and B. Rummel. FRONT ROW: Miss Sharon Fleschner, P. Reif, K. Fischer, J. Kuehnemund, B. Erndt, and S. Nuechterlein.

At the first G.A.A. banquet, awards were presented to various girls for achievements they had made.

Pat Reif is the new G.A.A. president and will serve the 1965-66 school year as leader of this large group.

Speakers Discuss Variety of Topics

Members of the Junior-Varsity Debate team are, STANDING: K. Kueffner, G. Frahm, C. VanEaton, T. Zuellig, and James Drummond, director. SEATED: K. Bernthal, R. Schutt, S. Frahm, and J. Duff.

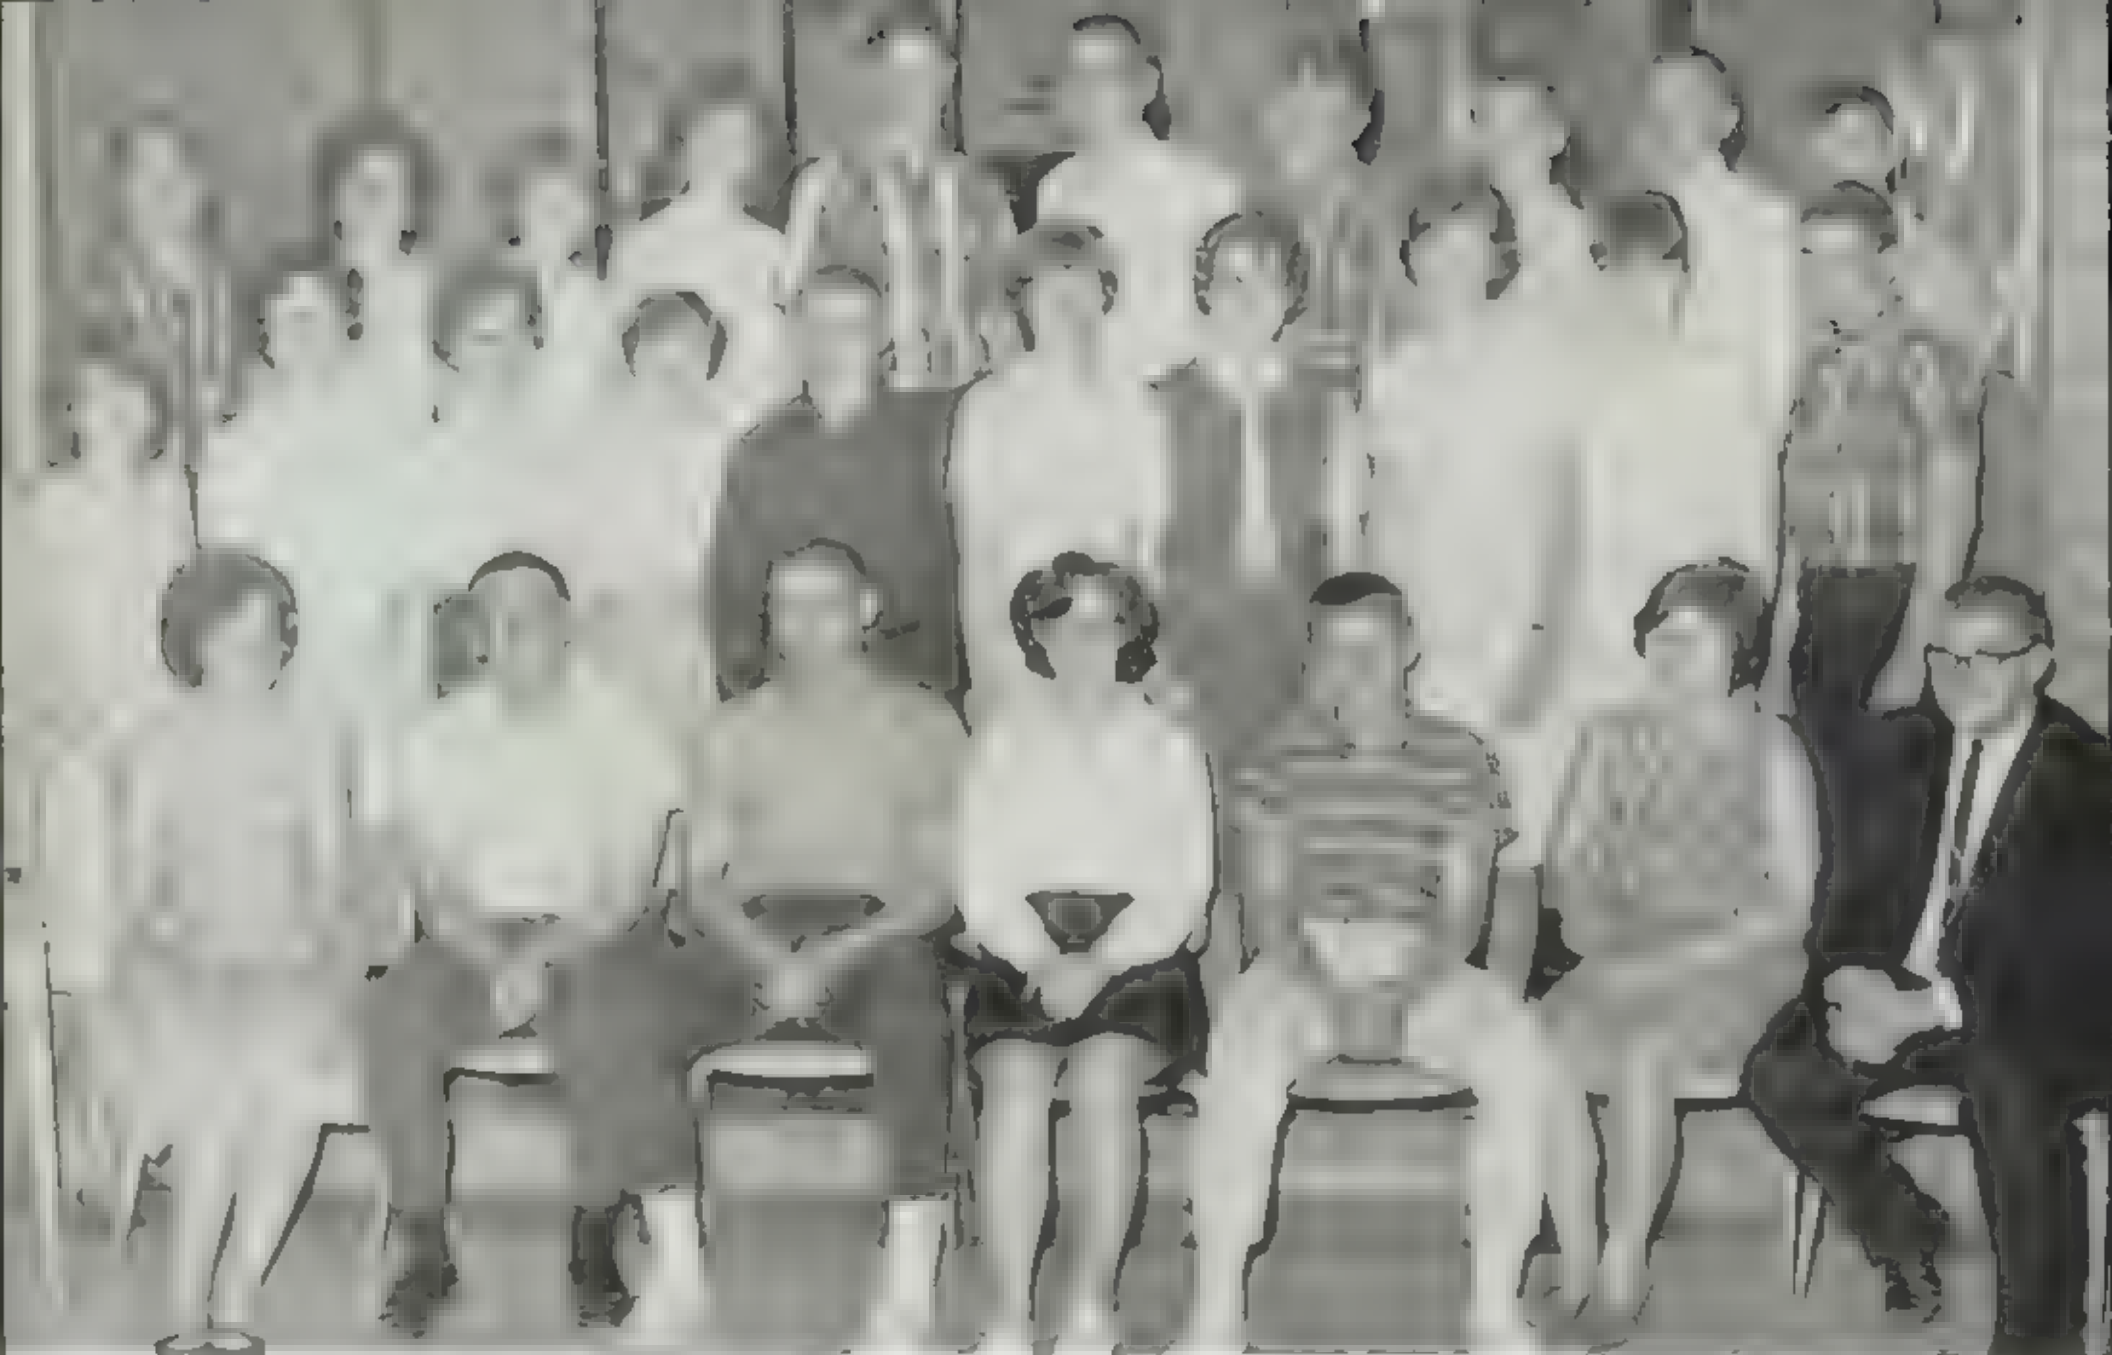

Brenda Travis, a senior, won the oratorical contest.

Declamation, humorous reading, interpretive reading, extemporaneous speaking, and original oration are the five categories into which the Forensics contest is divided. Winners are, STANDING: P. Shippey, J. Eaton, W. Rustern, K. Geyer, E. Allardyce, and J. Heinlein. SEATED: R. Loesel, M. Vanek, T. Rausch, and T. Abraham.

National Honor Society Grows

Membership in the Alfred Zirk chapter of the National Honor Society changes from year to year. TOP ROW, l. to r.: S. List, J. Watt, S. Finkbeiner, J. List, B. Plesko, D. Kaczynski, I. Zehnder, T. Weiss, B. Zedinger, and T. Abraham. SECOND ROW: K. Deterding, J. Schreiner, B. Beyerlein, L. Fischhaber, H. Dietzel, K. Brautigam, D. Palmreuter, I. Bronner, J. Kruckowski, and P. Kastern. SEATED: B. Home Ec. Club Prepares for the Future

The Home Ec. Club prepares girls for their future roles as housewives. STANDING are, l. to r.: C. Watters, B. Heinlein, G. Haubenstracker, B. Rogner, V. Brenner, O. Hoack, R. Schwab, J. Kamm, K. Fieger, A. Honold, L. Rodammer, K. Kasten, L. Gugel, J. Grueber and C. Reinert. SEATED: V. Bickel, C. Sparks, J. Newbold, B. Bender, C. Galsterer, S. Galsterer, K. Boening, K. Gugel, Mrs. Mary Lou Zehnder, K. Reinbold, L. Haubenstracker and M. Lauber.

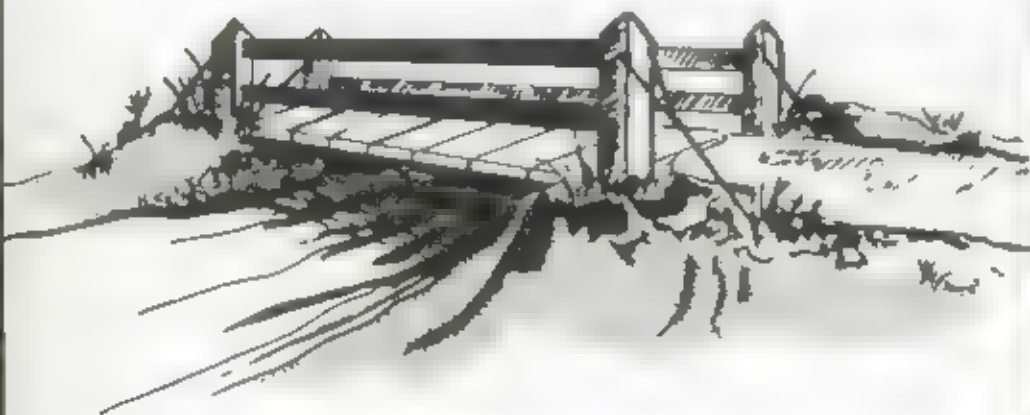

Activity Period Is Enjoyed

Activity periods made an initial appearance this year as a part of a broad base for inter-student relations. As a bridge is constructed of a great number of different materials, so also an education is built on a variety of interesting activities. Among the clubs of the activity period not pictured are the Film Watchers' Society, Games Club, Pool Club, Serious Reading Club, and Study Hall.

Boys especially joined the Bowling Club, which met each week at the local recreation center. Pictured is Bob Block, who is concentrating on how to get a perfect strike.

Deeply interested in their work are a group of girls knitting in the library. They are but a few of the girls from all classes which belong to the Knitting Club.

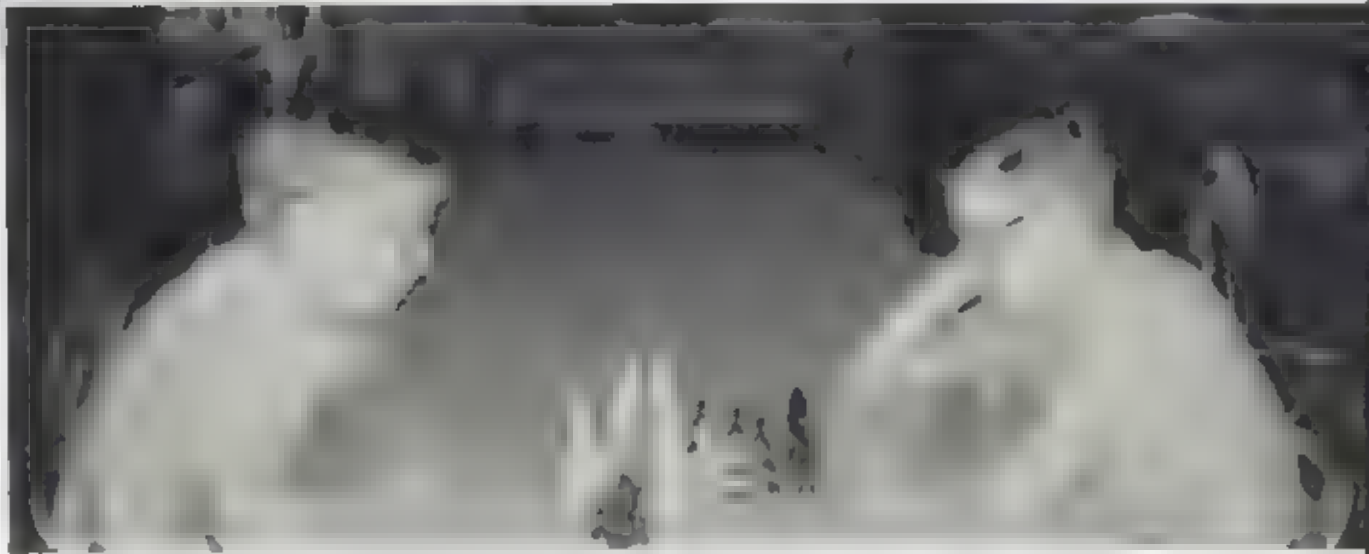

New Clubs Are Popular

Live radio broadcasts are reproduced in the Radio Club. Pictured are Karen Berthal, Gisela Leprich, Dave Morley, Leo Weiss and George Frahm.

Chess, an always popular game, requires thinking on the part of each player, as is displayed by John Hart and Dennis Rosencrants.

Mark DeYoung, Bill Zehnder, Mark Marcet, and Steve Szymanski are working toward becoming polished Bridge players.

Working on a shop project, as is typical of the Radio-Tractor Club members, is Gary Schmandt.

The Krazy Karnival Is a Success

"I've just got to get it this time!"

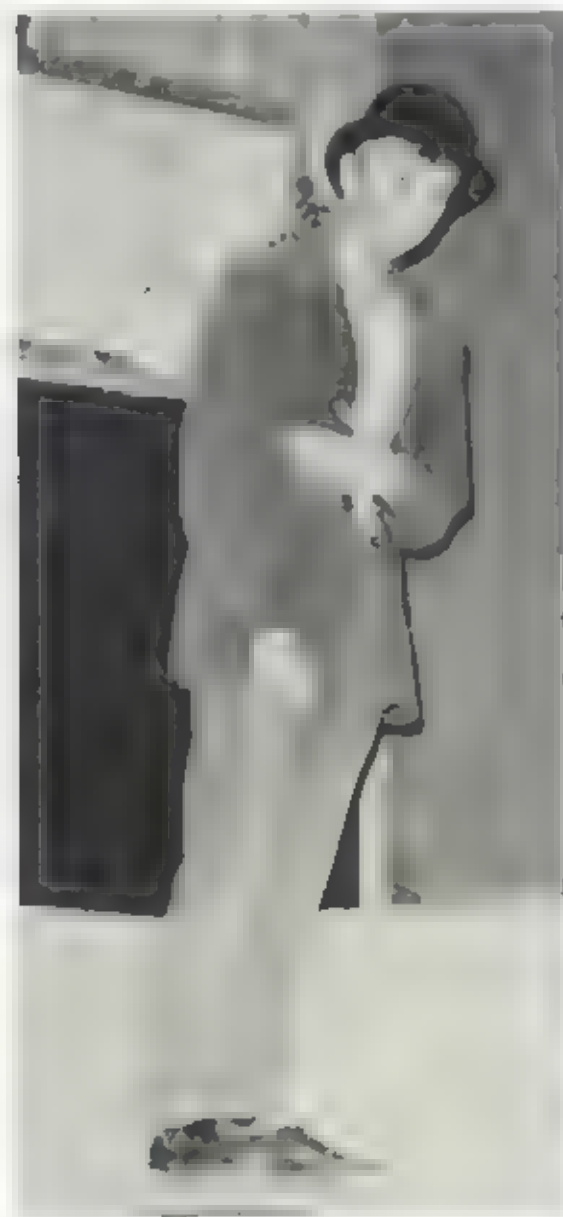

Sally, a sophomore, and Ken, a senior, reigned as king and queen of the Krazy Karnival.

Great Big Doorstep Presented

"My Creole bedes! Come give your 'nca Dewey a big hug," says Fred Zehnder to Terri Rausch and Faye Brorner.

"I got them cricks and sirens, Duck," moans Commodore Crochet alias Tim Abraham.

This year's all-school play, directed by Norman Richter, was entitled The Great Big Doorstep. The story dealt with a Louisiana Cajun family who wanted to get a house to match the big doorsteps they found floating down the Mississippi River. How the head of the household, Commodore Crochet, tries to get enough money to buy a new house provides a number of funny incidents which all turn out happily in the end.

"Duck, lookit! He can't get his mou' shut!" yells Mrs. Crochet, played by Jane Poellet.

Moonlight and Roses as Theme

Moonlight and Roses was chosen as the theme for the 1965 Junior-Senior Prom. The dinner-dance, an annual affair sponsored by the members of the junior class in honor of the senior class, was held in the main dining room of the Frankenmuth Bavarian Inn.

Each member of the graduating class received a silver dollar from the Frankenmuth Chamber of Commerce.

Standing under the rose-covered trellis, which adorned the entrance, are Barbara Rummel and Dwight Bleke.

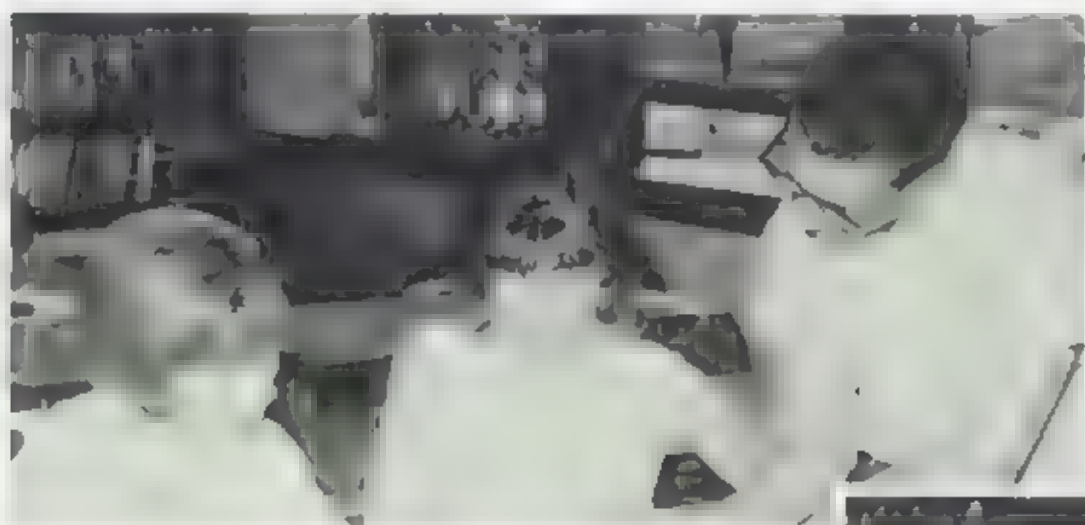

Dwight Bleke and Ken Weiss read the class prophecy.

Yearbook Staff Produces Eyrie

Working on the yearbook this year were, STANDING l. to r.: B. Travis, B. Bernthal, J. Zehnder, K. Kaczynski, K. Loesel, J. Zuellig, J. Maier, J. Lebler, M. Nuechterlein, K. Strobel, D. Bender and R. Loesel, SEATED: E. Zehnder, C. Goldammer, J. List, J. Krackowski, M. Zehnder, R. Abraham, Mrs. Margaret Willis, advisor, K. Rummel and J. R. Rodammer. Not pictured: R. Frank, K. Bracatigam, C. Schaefer, L. Fischhaber, S. Finkbeiner, S. Haubenstricker and S. List.

Extracurricular Activities

"And away we go," thinks James Weber as William Webster, Gary Zeilinger, and Fred Zehnder watch. The faculty vs. the intramural all-stars game is an annual affair.

Kathy Bernthal and Fred Wenzel are reading through the script at the play tryouts. Seems interesting, doesn't it?

Have Broad Base

One happy line of smiles is portrayed by the jolly, jumpin' cheerleaders of the all-star game.

Homer Stinchcombe may be smiling too soon as he anxiously awaits his gift from Ol' St. Nick, alias Ron Schury.

Athletes Are Honored . . .

"This conversation is beneath my dignity," exclaims Wendy Waack, right, as she listens to her fellow classmen.

Ron Loesel, Fred Zehnder, Roy Rodammer, and Terri Rauch, above, talk the situation over.

Kay Kaczynski, below, demonstrates a free exercise movement as students watch.

Candid Shots Snapped

I've got a secret . . . Nothin' like a gust of wind for the ol' hundo . . . Ooh! That was a wunner! . . . Let's do the Freddie! . . . Look what I got! . . . Nummy-nummy . . . The tea hies at play . . . Pants get shorter all the time . . . Just hangin' around.

Here and There Around School.

This is worthless! . . . A sneak peek at Mr. V. . . . Sitting down on the job? Not our Eagles! . . . Pick on somebody your own size! . . . No chance for cheating now! . . . Give me liberty or give me death! . . . Da, what happened! . . . A slight mess . . . Ladies and gentlemen, I'm beat!

SUCCESS IS THE SUM OF SMALL EFFORTS
REPEATED DAY IN AND DAY OUT,
WITH NEVER A THOUGHT
OF FRUSTRATION
WITH NEVER A MOMENT
OF DOUBT.

WHATEVER YOUR CHERISHED
AMBITION,
BEGIN NOW TO MAKE IT
COME TRUE,
THROUGH EFFORTS REPEATED,
UNTIRING,
PUT FAITH IN THE THING
THAT YOU DO.
